INFORMATION ABOUT THE NORTH CAROLINA REGISTER AND ADMINISTRATIVE CODE

NORTH CAROLINA REGISTER

The North Carolina Register is published bi-monthly and contains information relating to agency, executive, legislative and judicial actions required by or affecting Chapter 150B of the General Statutes. All proposed, administrative rules and amendments filed under Chapter 150B must be published in the Register. The Register will typically comprise approximately fifty pages per issue of legal text.

State law requires that a copy of each issue be provided free of charge to each county in the state and to various state officials and institutions. The North Carolina Register is available by yearly subscription at a cost of ninety-five dollars ($95.00) for 24 issues.

Requests for subscriptions to the North Carolina Register should be directed to the Office of Administrative Hearings, P. O. Drawer 11666, Raleigh, N. C. 27604, Attn: Subscriptions.

ADOPTION, AMENDMENT, AND REPEAL OF RULES

An agency intending to adopt, amend, or repeal a rule must first publish notice of the proposed action in the North Carolina Register. The notice must include the time and place of the public hearing; a statement of how public comments may be submitted to the agency either at the hearing or otherwise; the text of the proposed rule or amendment; a reference to the Statutory Authority for the action and the proposed effective date.

The Director of the Office of Administrative Hearings has authority to publish a summary, rather than the full text, of any amendment which is considered to be too lengthy. In such case, the full text of the rule containing the proposed amendment will be available for public inspection at the Rules Division of the Office of Administrative Hearings and at the office of the promulgating agency.

Unless a specific statute provides otherwise, at least 30 days must elapse following publication of the proposal in the North Carolina Register before the agency may conduct the required public hearing and take action on the proposed adoption, amendment or repeal.

When final action is taken, the promulgating agency must file any adopted or amended rule for approval by the Administrative Rules Review Commission. Upon approval of ARRC, the adopted or amended rule must be filed with the Office of Administrative Hearings. If it differs substantially from the proposed form published as part of the public notice, upon request by the agency, the adopted version will again be published in the North Carolina Register.

A rule, or amended rule cannot become effective earlier than the first day of the second calendar month after the adoption is filed with the Office of Administrative Hearings for publication in the NCAC.

Proposed action on rules may be withdrawn by the promulgating agency at any time before final action is taken by the agency.

TEMPORARY RULES

Under certain conditions of an emergency nature, some agencies may issue temporary rules. A temporary rule becomes effective when adopted and remains in effect for the period specified in the rule or 180 days whichever is less. An agency adopting a temporary rule must begin normal rule-making procedures on the permanent rule at the same time the temporary rule is adopted.

NORTH CAROLINA ADMINISTRATIVE CODE

The North Carolina Administrative Code (NCAC) is a compilation and index of the administrative rules of 25 state agencies and 38 occupational licensing boards. The NCAC comprises approximately 15,000 letter size single spaced pages of material of which approximately 35% is changed annually. Compilation and publication of the NCAC is mandated by G.S. 150B-63(b).

The Code is divided into Titles and Chapters. Each state agency is assigned a separate title which is further broken down by chapters. Title 21 is designated for occupational licensing boards.

The NCAC is available in two formats.

- (1) Single pages may be obtained at a minimum cost of two dollars and 50 cents ($2.50) for 1 page or less, plus fifteen cents ($0.15) per each additional page.
- (2) The full publication consists of 52 volumes totaling in excess of 15,000 pages. It is supplemented monthly with replacement pages. A one year subscription to the full publication including supplements can be purchased for seven hundred and fifty dollars ($750.00). Individual volumes may also be purchased with supplement service. Renewal subscriptions for supplements to the initial publication available.

Requests for pages of rules or volumes of the NCAC should be directed to the Office of Administrative Hearings.

NOTE

The foregoing is a generalized statement of the procedures to be followed. For specific statutory language it is suggested that Articles 2 and 5 of Chapter 150B of the General Statutes be examined carefully.

P. O. Box 353
Rocky Mount, North Carolina 27802-0353

Dear Mr. Rose:

This refers to the two annexations [Ordinance Nos. 171 and 176 (1988)] and the designation of the annexed areas to single-member districts for the City of Rocky Mount in Edgecombe and Nash Counties, North Carolina, submitted to the Attorney General pursuant to Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, as amended, 42 U.S.C. 1973c. We received your submission on October 3, 1988.

The Attorney General does not interpose any objections to the changes in question. However, we feel a responsibility to point out that Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act expressly provides that the failure of the Attorney General to object does not bar any subsequent judicial action to enjoin the enforcement of such changes. See the Procedures for the Administration of Section 5 (28 C.F.R. 51.41).

CHAPTER 6 - INDIVIDUAL INCOME TAX DIVISION

SUBCHAPTER 6C - WITHHOLDING

SECTION .0100 - WITHHOLDING INCOME TAXES

.0104 EXEMPTION CERTIFICATES

(a) Each new employee, before beginning employment, must furnish his employer with a signed North Carolina Employee's Withholding Exemption Certificate, Form NC-4, showing the amount of North Carolina personal exemption which he claims. A certificate filed by a new employee is effective upon the first payment of wages thereafter and remains in effect until a new one is furnished. North Carolina and federal laws concerning exemptions differ, and federal exemption certificates are not acceptable. If an employee fails to furnish an exemption certificate, Form NC-4, the employer must withhold tax on the basis of the personal exemption allowable for a single individual.

(b) If an employee's exemption should decrease, requiring more tax to be withheld, the employee is required to furnish his employer with an amended exemption certificate within 10 days after the change. Should the exemption increase, requiring less tax to be withheld, the employee may furnish his employer with an amended exemption certificate at any time after the change occurs.

(c) If a resident expects to have considerably more itemized deductions than the standard deduction or tax credits such as energy expenditures or child and dependent care expenses which are allowable on his income tax return, he may reduce the amount withheld by claiming additional allowances as provided on the withholding exemption certificate. An additional allowance may be claimed for each eight hundred dollars ($800.00) that itemized deductions are expected to exceed the standard deduction. An additional eight hundred dollars ($800.00) exemption allowance may be claimed for each fifty dollars ($50.00) that estimated tax credits are expected to reduce the tax due. Each additional allowance has the same effect as another dependent. Records must be maintained by the employee to support the additional allowances claimed.

(d) To increase withholding an employee may claim less than his allowable exemption or may enter into an agreement with his employer and request that an additional amount be withheld by entering the desired amount on the Form NC-4.

An employee working for two or more employers should claim his allowable exemption with only one employer and claim zero exemption with the other employers.

If an employee furnishes his employer with a completed Employee's Statement of No Income Tax Liability, Form NC-4A, his wages will be exempt from withholding of North Carolina income tax for the remainder of the calendar year or until the employee withdraws the statement.

If the employer has reason to believe that the employee will have income greater than his annual personal exemption, the employer should refer to Paragraph (f) of this Rule for instructions.

Form NC-4A is effective for one calendar year only. The employee must complete another Form NC-4A if he qualifies for a later year. Withhold on the basis of the personal exemption allowable for a single individual if the employee does not furnish another exemption certificate after expiration of Form NC-4A.

(e) You are not required to ascertain whether or not the total amount of exemptions claimed is greater than the total amount to which the employee is entitled. If, however, you have reason to believe that the amount of exemptions claimed by an employee is greater than the amount to which such employee is entitled, you are required to notify the Department of Revenue immediately.

(f) An employer shall submit, in accordance with the paragraphs below, a copy of any withholding exemption certificate, together with a copy of any written statement received from the employee in support of the claims made on the certificate, which is received from the employee during the reporting period (without regard to the date it is effective) if the employee is employed by that employer on the last day of the reporting period, and if the total number of dependents within the meaning of G.S. 105-149(5) and allowances for itemized deductions and tax credits exceeds 14. The employer shall also submit a copy of any certificate on which an employee claims a status exempting the employee from withholding and the employer reasonably expects, at the time the certificate is received, that the employee's wages as defined under G.S. 105-163.1(6) will exceed his basic personal exemption not including exemptions for dependents.

Copies required to be furnished shall be submitted at the time of filing Form NC-5 for the reporting period, the calendar quarter, or Form NC-5M for the last month of the calendar quarter. At the choice of the employer, copies may be submitted earlier and for shorter reporting periods.

The employer shall submit the copies to the Department of Revenue along with a statement showing the employer's name, address, withholding identification number, and the number of copies of withholding exemption certificates submitted.

Upon request of the Department of Revenue, an employer shall also submit a copy of any currently effective withholding exemption certificate (or make the original certificate available for inspection), together with a copy of any written statement received from the employee in support of the claims made on the certificate. This request of the Department may relate either to one or more named employees or to one or more named groups of employees. In this regard, the Department may, by written notice, advise the employer that a copy of each new withholding exemption certificate received from one or more named employees, or from one or more named groups of employees, is to be submitted to the Department. The employer shall then submit to the Department a copy of each such new certificate of each such employee immediately after the employer receives the new certificate from the named employee.

The amount of income tax to be withheld shall be determined as follows:

- (1) Until receipt of written notice from the Department of Revenue that a certificate, a copy of which was submitted under this Rule, is defective, that certificate is effective and the employer shall withhold on the basis of the statements made in that certificate, unless that certificate must be disregarded under the provisions of Subparagraph (f)(4) of this Rule. If the Department of Revenue finds that a copy of a withholding exemption certificate submitted contains any materially incorrect statements or if, after written request to the employee for verification of the statements on the certificate, the Department of Revenue determines that it lacks sufficient information to determine if the certificate is correct, and in either event so notifies the employer in writing, the employer shall then consider the certificate to be defective for purposes of computing amounts of withholding.
- (2) The Department of Revenue may, as a part of the written notice to the employer, advise the employer of the reasons why it has determined that a certificate is defective. In this regard, the Department may, based upon its findings, advise the employer that the employee is not entitled to claim a status exempting the employee from withholding and is not entitled to claim an amount of withholding exemptions in excess of the amount specified by the Department in the notice.
- (3) The employer shall promptly furnish the employee who filed the defective certificate, if still in his employ, with a copy of the written notice of the Department of Revenue with respect to the certificate and may request another withholding exemption certificate from the employee. The employer shall withhold amounts from the employee on the basis of the maximum amount specified in the written notice received from the Department.

(4) If and when the employee does file any new certificate (after an earlier certificate was considered to be defective), the employer shall withhold on the basis of that new certificate (whenever filed) as currently effective only if the new certificate does not make a claim of exempt status or of an amount of withholding exemptions which claim is inconsistent with the advice earlier furnished by the Department of Revenue in its written notice to the employer, then the employer shall disregard the new certificate, shall not submit that new certificate to the Department, and shall continue to withhold amounts from the employee on the basis of the maximum amount specified in the written notice received from the Department. If, however, the employee specifies on such new certificate, or by a written statement attached to that certificate, any circumstances of the employee which have changed since the date of the Department's earlier written notice, or any other circumstances or reasons, as justification or support for the claims made by the employee on the new certificate, the employer must submit a copy of that new certificate and the employee's written statement (if any) to the Department. The employer shall continue to disregard that new certificate and shall continue to withhold amounts from the employee on the basis of the maximum amount specified in the written notice received from the Department unless and until the Department of Revenue by written notice (under Subparagraph (f)(2) of this Rule) advises the employer to withhold on the basis of that new certificate and revokes its earlier written notice.

For purposes of Paragraph (f) of this Rule, the term "employer" shall be the same as defined in G.S. 105-163.1(5) and shall include any individual authorized by the employer to receive withholding exemption certificates, to make withholding computations, or to make payroll distributions.
